In a recent trip to the mouth of the Bear river Mr. Chambers found that the high waters this summer have pushed back the salt water along the north side of the Lucin cut-off, and that, approximately, thirty square miles of new feeding grounds for ducks and geese have been made. In the shallow fresh water grass and wild rice is already growing, and the birds were soon to find it out.

Mr. Chambers expects the best season in duck shooting in years. in duck shooting in years.

LEWIS AND BURKE AGAIN.

New York, Sept. 13.-Willie Lewis and Sallor Burke have signed articles to meet again in a ten-round bout in this city on Sept. 24. The weight is fixed at 158 pounds at 6 o'clock, but it is not likely that Lewis will reach more than 156. Lewis thinks that he can beat Burke this time more decisively than in their previous affair, when the sailor avoided a knockout by dropping to the floor for the final count.

waters of the state is progressing in fine shape, with every indication that the returns from the fry will be very high in the percentage of matured fish.

Yesterday $0,000 fry were planted in Weber county at the headwaters of the north and south forks of the Ogden river and the tributaries thereto. The headwaters of the Provo river in Wasatch county yesterday also received $6,000 fry.

Saturday the work in Juab and Utah county was completed, and by the end of the present week Davis, Morgan, Summit and Toocle counties will receive their allotments.

Near at home the fisherman will be glad to hear that the waters of Salt Lake county have received 200,000 fry, every stream and lake being stocked. The last planted were 22,000 each in Parley's and Emigration creeks.

State Commissioner F. W. Chambers says that in every case the fry have been planted high up at the headwaters, out of reach of the larger fish, where they will have every chance to mature. He says that the work of the department is meeting with wholesale interest throughout the state and that it is also lining up the people in the interests of fish and game protection.

Utah's Football Squad Will Put in Hard Licks at Lagoon Until

With the approach of the opening day of the University of Utah school year, general interest is being shown in the chances for a winning football team this fall. The squad, which returned to the city Saturday night from the Lagoon, returned to the resort Monday morning and will remain there in hard practice until Thursday night.

will remain there in hard practice until Thursday night.

The squad this year will be about equally divided between old and new men. Sam Olsen, who played a star game at guard last season, is confined at his home in Hooper from typhoid fever, and will probably not be able to get into the game this fall. Dave Olsen, a 200-pounder, who played a star game at guard on the Agricultural college team three years ago, will be at the school this year, and will probably take his brother's position at guard. Captain Tillie Olsen, who tendered his resignation to Coach Madodck some time ago, is still with the squad at the Lagoon, and will probably be in the game during the entire season.

It's time to think of the new fall suit—and in thinking the average man naturally turns to Siegel's.

Naturally enough, the qualities, the styles, the fabrics represent all that's best in suits for men, and each one carries with it the Siegel stamp of bona fide worth.
